MARRIAGE BELLS ARE BUSY

Prominent Young Society People Are Joined Together at Hymen's Altar.

Miss Butler's Debut-Largely Attended Reception-Matines Musicale-First Entertainment of the Dramatic Club.

Last night, at the attractive home of Mr. John H. Murry, occurred the marriage of his daughter Eloise C. and Mr. Willard S. Wickard. About 150 friends had been invited to witness the ceremony, which took place at 8:30, and was inpressively performed by Rev. H. A. Edson, of Memorial Church. The bridal party stood in the swell window of the south parlor, which was filled with palms, ferns and delicate vines and made a graceful and rich background for the party. The bride wore a lovely gown of white faille, trimmed with chiffon and pearls, the groom's gift-diamond ear-rings, and her father's gift-a diamond pin, and she carried a bouquet of white roses. The attendants were two little flower girls-Helen Holloway, who were a dainty blue freck, and Elsie Naylor, of Greencastle, arrayed in a pretty wellow silk. Each carried a basket of flowers. After the ceremony refreshments were served, the bridal party being seated at a table prettily arranged with pink ribbons, carnations and smilax. All the floral ornamentation was of pink carnations and roses, combined with the plants. The presents were many and valuable, and a large number were sent from friends in all parts of the country. At half past 11 Mr. and Mrs. Wickard left for Boston and other Eastern cities, to be absent a mouth. Upon their return they will be after Jan. 1. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McConnell and son, W. C. McConnell, of Columbus, O.; Mrs. A. G. Emerson and daughter, Mrs. Arthur F. Planck, of Peoria, Ill.; Miss Elia Adair, of Chicago; Professor and Mrs. J. P. Naylor, Miss Ella Stout, of Greencastle, and Mr. Elias Owens, of Bloomingdale.

ENNERS-LAWSON. The marriage of Miss Harriet Belle Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lawson, and Mr. Edward H. Enners was celebrated last evening at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. Robert Lawson, No. 885 North Mississippi street, at half-past 8. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. B. Hyde, of Hall-place Church, in the presence of about seventy relatives and friends. There were no attendants other than the friends who stood near. The cozy home was brightened and beaufined with cut nowers and a few plants and ferns. The bride were a very pretty gown of white silk, en train, trimmed with lace, and carried a bouquet of roses. After congratulations had been extended, refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Enners will go to housekeeping at No. 150 North Noble street, where they will be at home to their friends after Dec. 25. The many gifts received will add much toward making their home at the server in the making their home attractive. Among the guests from out of town were the bride's sister, Mrs. W. A. Meacham, and Mrs. O'Malley, of Rockville; Dr. and Mrs. Lawson and Miss Louise Lawson, of Danville. Other guests were the members of the Cinch Club, to which both bride and groom belong.

M'INTYRE-MORRIS

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. NEW CASTLE, Ind. Nov. 18 .- This evening, at 5 o'clock, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua I. Morris, on South Elm street, in this city, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, their daughter Leone and Mr. Robert H. McIntyre, of this place, being wedded. The bride is one of the most popular young women of this county. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. G. Mitchell, of Indianapolis, and was witnessed by a large company of relatives and friends of the young people. The house was handsomely and tastefully decorated with smilax and chrysanthemums, and over the bay window of the south parlor, in which the bride and groom stood during the ceremony, was the legend, in chrysan-themum letters, "1868-1891," in commemoration of the anniversary of the marriage of the bride's parents, which occurred twenty-three years ago to-day. The bride was attired in cream faille silk, en train, with pearl trimmings. There were no attendants. The bridal couple left at 7:20 o'clock this evening for Cincinnati. After a brief stay there and at various points in Kentucky they will return here to reside perma-BASHORE-WATSON.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MUNCIE, Ind., Nov. 18 .- This morning, at the High-street M. E. Church parsonage, Rev. C. U. Wade united in marriage George Bashere, of St Marys, O., and Miss Fleeta Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Watson, of Farmland. The groom at once took his bride to their new home

MISS BUTLER'S DEBUT. One of this city's most delightful homes was thrown hospitably open yesterday to the many friends of the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Noble C. Butler, who gave a debut reception and party for their daughter, Miss Butler. The spacious home was in festive attire for the event. White canvas covered the floors, and from every mantel and chimney corner choice flowers beamed a welcome. One mantel in the drawing-room had in one corner a vase overflowwith great American Beauties. In the center was an oblong basket filled with maiden-hair fern and pink carnations nedding to the com-pany, and in the other end was a glass full of orchids, deep-shaded red, white, pink and yellow. The choice varieties were repeated in the other rooms. In the dining-room a table was ornamented with a bouquet lamp, roses and ferns in tasteful profusion. The married friends and a few young ladies were invited for the afternoon reception, and were welcomed by Mrs. and Miss Butler and guest, Miss Whitthorne. The hospitalities were extended by Mrs. A. C. Harris, Mrs. T. L. Sewall, Mrs. Frederick cabuley and Mrs. Lucius B. Swift. Three hundred invitations were issued for the afternoon. hours divided that at no time was there a crush. The guests were the representative ladies of social circles. At So'clock Mr. an Mrs. Butler were "at home" to greet the young people for a dancing party. The flowers, the lights, the beautiful gowns and attractive personnel made a charming picture. Miss Butler wore a dress of white silk raped with chiffon and trimmed with English violets. Miss Whitthoone's dress was an exquisite yellow crepe da chene, trimmed with liles of the valley. The young people assisting were Miss Florence Baker, Miss Alice Woods and guest, Miss Hutchin son, of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Ovid Butler Jame son, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Van Buren and Mr. John Butler. In one end of the hall Misses Alice and Florence Butler served lemonade, and in the other Henry Hart's orchestra was stationed, and played for both entertainments. The companies

MATINEE MUSICALE. The second division of the Matinee Musicale rendered a programme of Haydn and Mozart compositions, yesterday afternoon, the participants being Mrs. W. W. Scott, Mrs. Enrique Miller, Mrs. Aquilla Jones, Misses Meigs, Hunter, Whittier, Bloomer, Cooper, Beck, Thompson, White, Willard, Stowell, Herron and Schrader and Mr. Ayiward, who played the 'cello in Haydn's "Gypsy Rondo," with Miss Meigs, piano, and Miss Schrader, violin. The second division presented a picture of Haydn to the society, Mrs. Whittier naking the presentation for the division, and Mrs. Eobertson accepting for the society. At the business meeting following Miss Daisy Lemon was elected a member. Resolutions regarding the death of Mrs. Grace D. Levering, one of the society's fore-

DRAMATIC CLUB'S FIRST ENTERTAINMENT. The Indianapolis Dramatic Club has changed the date of opening its season from Saturday night to Thursday night. Consequently the actors of Indianapolis society will appear before the footlights and the club at the Propyleum tonight. The evening's entertainment will begin with Jerome's pretty curtain riser, "Sunset." The rehearsals show that it will be given in a charming manner by the following well-known cast: Miss Belle Baidwin as Lois Rivers, Miss Charlotte Jones as Joan Jasper, Miss Marie Dye as Aunt Druscilla, Mr. Jacob Dunn as Azariah Stodd, Dr. D. A. Thompson as Mr. Rivers, and Mr. Author Byfield as Laurence Leigh. The rehearsa's have been carefully watched by the John Bradshaw and Mr. and Mrs. James B.

PRISONERS SENTENCED.

Lynch Gets His Dose of Five Years for Trying to Kill His Wife.

In the case of the State vs. Chas. Lynch, for assault and battery with intent to kill his wife, motion for a new trial was overruled by Judge Cox, who pronounced judgment on the sentence of the jury of five years in the State prison. Lynch will be remembered as the man who attempted to cut his wife's throat with a razor on New Jersey street, because she refused to live with him. He also created quite a little sensation by making a well-defined effort to dash out his brains in the Criminal Court room, when the jury returned their Hard Lines for the Gymnasium. The case of Lewis L. Curtis vs. Robert H. Bigger et al., officers and trustees of the Seventh Presbyterian Church, filed some time since in the Superior Court, has received additional impetus by the filing of a separate answer by James W. Brown, one of the defendants in the case. It will be remembered that this case is one where the trustees of the Seventh Presbyterian were made the subjects of an injunction suit, through which it was sought to restrain them from erecting upon certain church real estate a building to be devoted to the purposes of a gymnasium, reading-room, kindergarten, public hall, etc. In his separate answer Mr. Brown relates that he believes the proposed erection of the structure for the purposes named to be improper and a violation of all law and precedent of the presbytery, and he therefore joins in the effort to prevent the carrying out of the design of the defendants in the Curtis-Bigger suit.

After the Dog Tax,

Edwin I. Williams, treasurer of the Poard of Education, in the Superior Court yesterday filed a petition and affidavit for writ of mandate to compel County Auditor Taggart to make a distribution of the surplus of the "dog fund" for schools of Marion county in the same manner that interest on the congressional school fund is distributed by law; that upon determining what proportion of such fund is due the schools of Marion county, the auditor shall be compelled to pay relator, treasurer of the school commissioners of Indianapous, the amount to which this school city is entitled.

Lucky He Was Not in Texas. John Hulan, eighteen years old, not long since stole a horse, and was indicted by the grand jury for grand larceny. Yosterday he was brought before Judge Cox and on a plea of guilty was allowed to go on suspended judgment, by reason of his age and from the fact that at the time the offense was committed he was under the influence of liquor.

THE GOULD FAMILY.

George Gould Takes the Management of the Elevated Railway.

New York Correspondence Philadelphia Press. As young George Gould becomes more and more prominently identified with his father's business properties something of a tendency is seen to compare him with Cor-nelius Vanderbilt. He is a good deal younger than Vanderbilt, but he has en-joyed the advantage that is to be gained from early discipline and meeting of reonsibilities. Gould the senior, unlike William H. Vanderbilt, put young George in places where his capacity would be tested almost as soon as he was out of school, and now, when he is only a little over thirty years of age, he is placed in an office which will require the very best business ability to administer.

Yesterday he was elected vice-president of the New York Elevated railway system, in place of R. M. Galloway, and the office is virtually that in which the entire responsibility for the management of this great system is centered. Mr. Galloway has for many years administered this office, and in his administration has been brought to the very front rank of business executives. As he is getting older, however, he inclines to the more quiet and less exacting responsibilities of banking, and has stepped out while George Gould steps in. The elevated railways of New York combined form one of the great railway systems of the country. To be sure, the mileage is not much further than from Philadelphia to Trenton, and yet over this mileage probably more passengers have been carried than over any other single railway system in the country during the year. More than 300,000,000 of passengers were carried last year, and the net income of the company has been over $4,000,000, a percentage of income to miles of road which is exceeded by that of only one other railway in the country, and that is a little half-mile railway which is operated on Coney island during the summer months. The management of this great property, which is now almost entirely in the hands of Gould, requires unusual business ability, and if George Gould proves equal to it his father may confidently rely upon his ability to protect all of the Gould railway properties, which it is the intention of the Wizard to make as permanent in its rela-tion to the Goulds as the New York Central properties are in their relations to the Vanderbilts. George Gould will have in the directory with him his brother, who go by the undignified nickname of "Eddy and a younger brother, Howard, who have for the first time appears in business life. George is absolutely absorbed in his business. He has the acquisitive sense even to a greater degree than his father. He cares ten in Hebrew to his father. It read: for money only as money. The sense of Dear Father—Oh, the hard times I have power and influence which it gives some since I lett home! This is what I get for no men do not attract him. His disposition is that of the miser, so far as accumulation is concerned, although he is not miserly in expenditure when his personal desires are to be gratified

Eddy Gould is a different sort of chap. Personally he suggests his mother's side of the family. He is taller than any of the other Goulds, of slender build, has been rather fond of having a good time, though never dissipated, and it is the exhibaration and excitement of money-getting which attract him rather than the mere acquisitive sense. He is the most popular one of the family in his outside relations, and those who know him best are inclined to think that when he is developed he will display something of his father's genius, so far as audacity and constructive ability are concerned. Howard is nothing but a boy and his appearance in the Elevated railroad directory is simply of a preparatory nature, and when he has shown himself capable he will be promoted gradually

VIRGINIA - AVENUE PAVING

The Western Company Declines Responsibility for Breaks Caused by Trenches.

Squabble with the Board of Works About Approving the Estimate-Bright Idea of a Small Boy-Minor City Affairs.

When manager C. A. Kenyon, of the Western Paving Company, walked into the office of the Board of Secret Works, yesterday morning, he had a determined look on his face. On Oct. 20 the last work was done on the Virginia-avenue pavement, and since then Mr. Kenyon has been endeavoring to have the estimate approved. Yesterday morning he seized the first opportunity to talk to the board, and stated that he wanted to talk about the Virginia-avenue pavement. President Conduittasked City Engineer Mansfield, who was present, if he was ready to report on the final estimate. He said he had examined the street and had found that the paving company had repaired the places where the board had found fault with the grade. The only place, he said, where the damage caused by the recent rains had not been repaired was at Daugherty street, where the trench had settled. This could not be repaired until the weather had settled so that concrete could be laid. "Do you consider that you are responsible for that under your contract?" Mr. Defrees asked. "No, sir," replied Mr. Kenyon, as a de-termined smile for a moment flitted across his countenance. "The digging of those trenches was under the city's direction and I had no authority to interfere. I notified the board about the matter at the time on several different occasions." "Do you mean to say," asked President Conduitt, "that where a pavement goes down on account of trenches settling that you are not responsible for the damage to the pavement?" "Not when those trenches were dugunder authority from the city, and are not put in "Do you recommend the approval of the estimate?" President Conduitt asked of Engineer Mansfield.

"Yes, sir." "Here are the bills, also," said Mr. Ken-

"I am in favor of approving the estimate to-day," bastily exclaimed President Con-duitt, "but not the bills; those will have to lay over." The question of the paving company's liability for the repair of the pavement where the damage is caused by trenches constructed just prior to the laying of the pavement under the board's authority will be referred to the city engineer. Immediately after Mr. Kenyon left, the chamber to engage in secret confab over matters of public import. Yesterday afternoon the board met with Mr. Kenyon to figure on the amount the city shall hold back in the Virginia-avenue estimate under the terms of the specifications adopted last spring.

board, as usual, adjourned to the executive

Street-Improvement Contracts. Several contracts for street improvements were awarded yesterday morning by the Board of Public Works. The contract for grading and graveling Brookside avenue, from Orange avenue to Rose lane, was awarded to Roney & Dunnue to Rose lane, was awarded to Roney & Dun-ning, at 95 cents a foot; for paving with brick the west sidewalk of Maple street, from Wilkins to Morris street, to Daniel Foley, at 30 cents. The board later released Mr. Roney from the Brook-side-avenue contract, at his request, and decided to readvertise for bids. The board decided yesterday that the contracts let at this time for street and sidewalk improvements will not be carried out until next spring, unless the weather moderates considerably, per-mitting the work to be done in a manner satisfactory to the city engineer. That Exploded Cistern. Four or five months ago the cistern at the corner of Lynn and Vermont streets, across the river, constructed by John J. Twiname, was damaged by a natural gas explosion. Mr. Twiname thought he ought not to be called upon to repair the damage at his own expense, although, at the time of the explosion, the cistern had not been accepted by the city. It had been completed for some days, however. A controversy of some length ensued. Yesterday the Board of Public Works directed the city engineer to order Mr. Twiname and his bondsman, R. S. Hill, to complete the cistern at once. If it is not done they will likely be sued by the city. The contract for the cistern was let Oct. 20, 1890.

Dickson-Street Opening. Attorney Will Martz came before the board, yesterday, not to remonstrate against the acceptance of the College-avenue improvement, but to ask that it take no further action regarding the opening of Dickson street. The board promised to give the matter further considera-tion before final action would be taken.

Another Factory Asks Protection. A communication was received by the Board of Public Works, from the Board of Public Safety, yesterday morning, containing a recom-mendation from Fire Chief Webster that a firealarm box and two or three cisterns be located in the neighborhood of Madden's lounge factory. No action was taken.

Bids Rejected.

Bids were received by the board, yesterday morning, for the improvement of Columbia avenue, from Seventh to Tenth, but they were all rejected on account of an informality.

Persistence Is the Price of Success Mr. Charles Again Bookwalter was before the board, yesterday morning, for the nineteenth time, and succeeded in having his subdivision plat of Columbia Place approved.

To Bowlder an Alley. Final action was taken, yesterday, on the declaratory resolution for bowldering Helen street, from Washington street to the Big Four tracks.

One Way to Get a Plat Approved. Albert Metzger had a plat approved yesterday morning He promised to name one of the

LAUGHED, BUT HIS HEART CRIED, Sad Story of a Young Russian Who At tempted to Commit Suicide. New York Morning Advertiser. Hirsch Irmanofsky is lying at Gouverneur Hospital dangerously ill from the effects of drinking water in which five boxes of matches had been soaked. Irmanoisky's father is a well-to-do clothing merchant in Russia, but Hirsch came to America a year ago, thinking he could easily make a fortune here. He was only twenty-two years old, and fate frowned on him. After trying his hand at various things he went to work for a baker, by whom he was discharged two weeks ago. Davis Weinberg, a friend, let Hirsch sleep in his room at No. 97 Allen street. Day after day he tramped the streets searching for work. His money was gone. He went for days without food. His pride would not allow him to beg or to let his friends know how desperate his condition was. He made no complaint, but he grew very despondent and melancholy. Little Ida Garodnisky, the landlady's daughter, heard him greaning yesterday afternoon, and when Weinberg came home Irmanofsky admitted that he had tried to commit suicide. In his room was found a letter writ-Dear Father-Oh, the hard times I have had since I lett home! This is what I get for not tak-ing your advice. But it is too late now. Your advice to me at the last moment I now understand, but when it is too late. I have had no pleasure here, nothing but trouble, and with these thoughts I leave this dark world. It is bitter to die, but I can find no alternative.

I hope you will forget me. My heart breaks when I read your letter. The suffering I have endured for fourteen months is enough for me. I have lived on 10 cents a day. Every day the loafers throw stones at me. I stood this for six mouths. I have slept with other unfortunates in a cellar, and still when I was asked how I was getting along I said, "Good, thank God!"

I have been cheated and eaten dry bread.

When my heart cried I have laughed to friends. Last May, on one holiday night, after having had searcely anything to eat or drink for fourteen days, I slept in a garden under a tree. The people were singing, dancing and laughing, while my teeth chattered and hunger pained me so that I was afraid the police would hear my

At last I got work, and how I had to worksixteen hours a day. I have no hope. Why should I liver I have told you all. Forgive me for having sinned against you. God help you.
